Is there a special passage or prayer that carries special or particular meaning for you?

For Anne, the Lord's Prayer and two other bedtime prayers have special meaning. I can still hear my grandmother's voice saying those prayers to me at night, as I know repeat them with my children.

For Kevin, Psalm 92:12 will always be on that I remember because it was the first one that I had to memorize and recite to the group at church camp when I was small. John 3:16 is also special because I remember learning it as a kid and having the "ah-ha" moment of how it connect to the signs in the stands at the football games in the '80s.

What do you do?

Anne: Before kids I taught Psychology at the college level. Currently I apply the psychology that I used to teach on my boys, as I stay home to raise them.

Kevin: I do financial technology work for investment firms. My specialty is order management, trading, and execution systems.

When not at home, work/school, or church where can you be found?

Anne: During the week I am likely in my car, shuttling kids to and from school, piano lessons, karate, and sports practices.

Kevin: I can normally be found in the house or yard working on my ever growing list of projects. Many evenings I can be found coaching one of the boys in one sport or another.

What are your passions?

Anne: I love spending time outdoors during the summer months, biking and running, going to the beach, playing with the kids in the pool. If I have a free moment I love to read. I tolerate the winter months by going skiing with the boys.

Kevin: I love spending time outdoors hunting and fishing. Anything I can do with my family outside is a great.

What was the last book you read?

Anne: When You Were Older by Catherine Ryan Hyde

Kevin: Unfortunately the pile of fun books by my bedside is growing into a monument to unavailable time. The last several books I have read have either been about computer programming or financial securities. :(

What was the last movie you watched?

Usually we end up watching kids' movies, but we did manage to watch one we had never heard of recently, The Frozen Ground.
